- Why did Russia become a communist state?
- How did Stalin turn Russia into a totalitarian state? (How did he seize power?)
- How did Hitler seize control of Germany?

4. The Holocaust

- Where and why were the Jews persecuted in 19th century Europe?
- What was the experience of Jewish life in Europe before the Nazis?
- What was life like for Jews under the Nazi regime?

- How did the outbreak of WWII effect Jews in Europe?
- What was the Final Solution?
- How far was Hitler to blame for the final solution?

Key skills to practise:

1. Knowledge recall and chronology
2. Using sources and interpretations
3. Extended writing

Revision activity suggestions:

- Mind map – use large (A3) paper to make mind maps for each topic – you could colour code the different sections of each topic (e.g. Suffrage movement - different sections for Chartists, Suffragists, Suffragettes, impact of WW1).
- Timelines – write down the key dates linked with important events e.g. When did Hitler become Chancellor of Germany? When were the Nuremburg Laws passed?
- Re-do of exam/assessment questions in your book, including your Mid-Year Exam
- Key word tests – write down as many key terms as you can, giving specific definitions and examples of where they have come from and where they can be found (e.g. communism, ideology)

Materials to use:

- Exercise books - these contain all your key materials and topics which you will need and will be assessed on. Take time to look at the materials on Teams to check you have all the finished content possible.

- In particular, focus on your SKILLS and PREVIOUS ASSESSMENTS e.g. source inference/essays - look at how you have done on these skills previously and the feedback you were given and PRACTISE AT LEAST ONE of them again, trying to perfect it this time.
- Knowledge Organisers - these are glued into your book but have also been placed into Teams. You can utilise these to support your revision, starting with a task from memory and then using the KO as a way of filling in the blanks. Great for key words too.
- Additional links/materials - below are some videos and websites I would encourage you to use as a support for your revision.
